

CONTINUITY

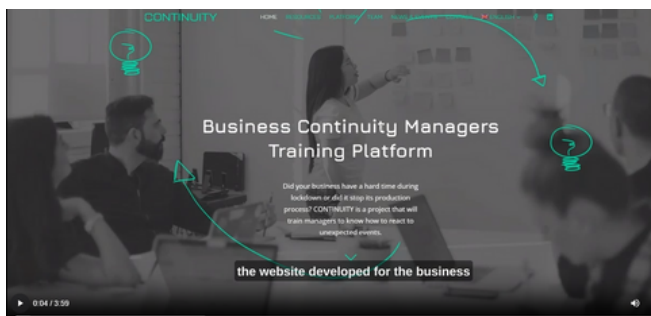

In the 3rd and final edition of our newsletter, we announce the conclusion of the CONTINUITY project on December 31, 2023.

Business Continuity After the End

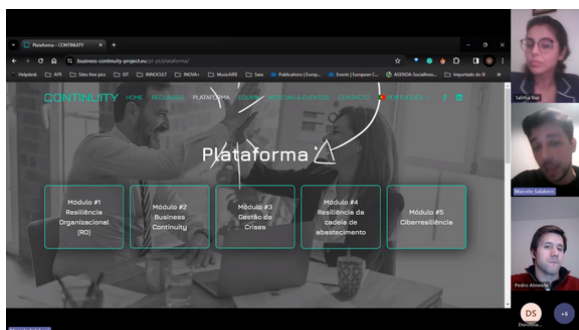

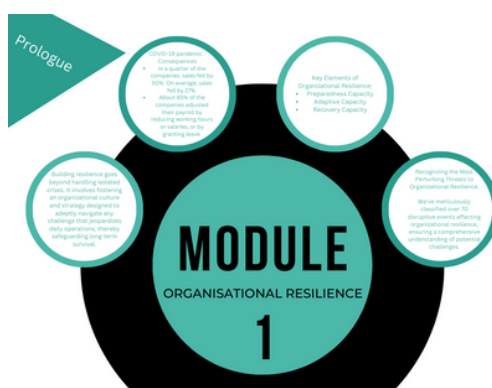

Even after the conclusion of the Continuity project, our website will remain active and available for those who wish to take the Business Continuity course. Also, we remind everyone that each module continues to provide a completion certificate once the module is finished.

The Business Continuity project has reached its conclusion. The project involved collaboration with six partners from five different countries. Its main outcome was the development of a five-module course focused on Business Continuity. Additionally, events and workshops were held in various countries with the aim of promoting the course to as many people as possible.

To further facilitate the understanding of our teaching platform, we have developed a video to assist with access. This video guides the user and provides a brief summary of how to use and what to find on our website and platform. Enjoy watching it here.

We have also prepared infographics for each of our modules, which summarize the content of each module by topics, previewing and summarizing much of what will be covered in depth in each module.

Finally, to conclude the project, an event was held featuring guests from various types of organizations that were operational before, during, and after the COVID-19 period. They shared their experiences of successfully navigating through the pandemic, strategies employed, and what motivated them to move forward.
